Social media platforms have become an important part of the news distribution and consumption process. What role do these platforms play in investor relations?

In our session, we will demystify, declutter and simplify social media for IR while taking a look at how many companies are using these communication tools.

Steering the discussion of IR and social media will be Business Wire's Director of Social/Evolving Media Serena Ehrlich, and President of Investor Relations Advisory Solutions and former chairman of the NIRI National Board of Directors Derek Cole.
